NAME

Halloween is a holiday that is celebrated in many different places around the world. Each country that celebrates the holiday does so in different ways.

Halloween AROUND THE WORLD

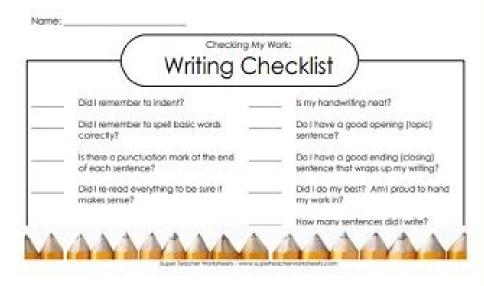

In North America, families carve pumpkins into "jack o'lanterns". These festive pumpkins are often placed outside of a home with a candle placed inside to light up the design that has been carved. Families also take children trick-or-treating to homes nearby in costumes to receive candy.

Many countries in Europe celebrate Halloween. People who live in England also carve pumpkins, but they call their finished products "punkies". In Ireland, many people make a type of fruitcake called "barnbrack" and place a wrapped treat inside of the cake!

Not everyone in Australia celebrates Halloween. However, those who do like to dress up in costumes, trick-or-treat, and make jack o'lanterns.

The continent of Asia celebrates Halloween in different ways. In Japan, families hang red lanterns in homes. They believe the lanterns will show the spirits of past loved ones where their family lives. Geography of Ediments
